Short Description

Put simply, the Gym Gear Elite Series Smith Machine is a high quality piece of commercial gym equipment. It is sturdily built and incredibly stable when in use. With the smooth vertical sliding action of the Olympic bar, you have the comfort of the easy lock offs making it safe no matter how heavy the weight loaded onto it.

With the additional six weight storage horns, 10 different racking positions and the 20kg weighted bar, you can perform your bench or standing work and focus on your form. Use Olympic plates up to 250kg on the bar and then store with the horns for safety. It's a compact and simple solution for many gyms.

Choosing Your Smith Press Machine

Whether you want to perform squats, bench press, shoulder press or even incline press, the Gym Gear Elite Series Smith Machine is a commercial grade machine that's up for the job. You are buying commercial quality, which means it will last too. Smith machines are a great piece of kit to allow your members to perform squats and presses in safety. Simply load the bar with weight plates and squat in confidence.

The Elite Series Smith machine will complement any gym and will be a focal point for your members. Durable and excellent value for money, order now or add to your design wish list.
