Short Description

Suitable for all sizes of battle rope, the solid steel anchor can be mounted to floors or walls and allows you to use your battling ropes without damaging any other equipment or structural features.

The battle/training rope anchor is red in colour and can also be used with resistance bands or tubes so it is multi functional and you can fix as many as you want in your gym. Using the anchor allows you to perform double-handed exercises with the ropes and it takes seconds to loop the rope through.

Suspension Trainer/Rope Anchor

Here on GymEquipment.co.uk we have everything you need to kit out your gym. From large fitness pieces to the small essentials such as this floor/wall anchor from Jordan Fitness. This product allows you to safely use your ropes without hooking it round another piece of equipment or structural post. You can simply fix it into place on the floor or on a wall and you then have a dedicated battle rope area.

Great for gyms and crossfit centres, simply order online for fast dispatch and delivery.
