Short Description

The preacher curl is a true focused piece of strength training equipment that will help build your bicep muscles thanks to isolating the brachialis muscle, which is part of your lower biceps. The brachialis also is the flexion of your elbow. The Exigo standing preacher curl bench is designed with a heavy duty wide arm pad which sits above two chrome bar catchers for bar work.

Using A Standing Preacher Curl Bench

Being able to get exactly the right position and posture is crucial. The Exigo Standing Preacher Curl arm pad is fully adjustable to accommodate users of different heights to ensure comfort. Available with a frame and upholstery colour of your choice, this is a superb commercial piece of equipment.

Description

Standing Preacher Curl Bench from Exigo

In order to properly target your brachialis muscle of your biceps, working with a preacher curl is a great way achieve this. By isolating the muscle and preventing any swing or momentum that comes with standing curls with a bar or dumbbells, you get a targeted workout that will help you build strength and size. The Exigo standing preacher curl bench ensures you have a great platform to perform this exercise.

Designed with users in mind, there's a fully adjustable arm pad for height. The arm pad itself is a heavy duty one that has a high density foam padding that gives support with some give for comfort. Below the arm pad are two laser cut chromed bar catchers for resting the bar between exercises. It's been nicely thought out and a great piece of kit.

Exigo make this to order, with lead times being around 3 to 5 weeks. They offer 19 different frame colours as well as 12 upholstery colour options for the pad.
