Short Description

This is a superb HIIT bench that gives you storage, an exercise bench, an anchor point and even a plyo box all in one easy-to-store unit that can fit in the corner of your room or gym. You can even load it up with your choice of dumbbells, kettlebells, slam or medicine balls, skipping ropes or power bands.

3-in-1 HIIT Bench

A perfect addition for a small PT studio, a home gym that's on limited space and even personal trainers who can load this in their car. You can make it a focal point for the session and the number of exercises are huge. What's more, it's a high-quality build and offers a stable bench position for workouts.

Using A HIIT Bench

For home users it's an easy choice. Providing a bench, anchor point, plyo platform and a great storage unit for your weights, bands, slam balls or more. The HIIT Bench has been designed and is manufactured in the UK - meaning you are buying home-grown gym equipment.

Jordans can also customise this if you want - with laser etching and some colour. Built to order, they can take up to 8 weeks during busy periods, but usually 4 to 6 weeks is the regular lead time.

We think this is a superb multi-functional piece of equipment that would suit a wide range of users, teachers and trainers.
