Short Description

A great multi-functional piece of equipment, the Exigo Adjustable High Low Pulley really can make a big difference to your workouts. Allowing users to perform a huge range of functional exercises, this single pulley column has a height adjustable pulley in increments from the floor to top of the machine. The rotating pulley offers resistance in different directions and allows for multi joint, isolation and core exercises to be performed. It is ideal for both sport related training and rehabilitation work.

Adjustable 100kg Single Pulley

An extremely versatile and compact adjustable high to low pulley machine will prove to be a great investment for your gym and takes up minimal floor space. It can be used with standard cable attachments and comes with a 100kg weight stack so there is more than enough weight for the most advanced exercisers.
